

I already get enough junk mail from banks. I do not want them calling me, interrupting my sleep and my meals, or trying to push me into something for which they have already sent me junk mail. I pay for my phone service and I should be able to not be harassed by banks or any person or organization. Thank you.